Council President Perea announced that a majority of Councilmembers must recuse themselves from this item due to conflicts. She noted the rules required a random selection of Councilmembers to determine which recused members would be allowed to participate in order to reach a quorum on this matter. The Councilmembers would announce their recusals.

City Attorney Janz read the following statement into the record: When using the legally required participation exception, the randomly selected participating Councilmembers may only participate in public deliberations regarding the matter, and any related close session items required by the law. The Councilmembers may not attempt to influence the outcome of the matter, behind the scenes, by engaging in private discussions with other members or staff - your influence of this item has to be done here in public. Also, the conflict will be stated for the record. Just like any other conflict, please state what the conflict is, for example, your primary residence or not your primary residence or a different property.

Councilmember Arias announced his conflict involved an interest in real property that was his primary residence. He stated a conflict could arise because a Tower Specific Plan implementation could affect his real property which was located within the bounds of the plan.

Councilmember Chavez announced his conflict involved an interest in real property that was not his primary residence. He stated a conflict could arise because the Tower District Specific Plan implementation could affect his real property which was located within the bounds of the plan.

He stated a conflict could arise because the Tower District Specific Plan implementation could affect his real property which was located within the bounds of the plan.

Council President Perea announced her conflict involved an interest in real property that was not her primary residence. She stated the property was 720 East Vassar Avenue and a conflict could arise because the Tower District Specific Plan implementation could affect her real property which was located within the bounds of the plan.

City Clerk Stermer announced he would load a box with red and green cards which would be drawn to reach the minimum number of Councilmembers required to reach a quorum on this item - four members were needed. The two Councilmembers without conflicts on the matter would automatically participate on the matter. As such, two green cards and three red cards would be placed in the box, to be drawn one at a time in reverse council number order. The two Councilmembers that pull the green cards would be required to participate. The three Councilmembers that pull the red cards would remain recused.

Upon the random drawing, Councilmembers Arias and Esparza drew the green cards and were therefore selected to participate in the matter along with non-conflicted members Maxwell and Bredefeld. Councilmembers Perea, Karbassi and Chavez would remain recused and not participate.

Council discussion included: Contract expiration date, and continuing this item to a future date and time to give Councilmembers the opportunity to engage the public. Additional information was requested by Council.
