ID 24-1257 Public Comment Received

6:26 p.m.

One member of the public spoke about the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Guidelines, including citizen participation, publication, providing free copies of the Plan, and public comment. She voiced concerns about information not being available to the public, and lack of community notification.

Commissioners spoke of concerns about how the community feels they are not notified of current projects, and asked if a list of addresses could be provided that received notification. They also asked about providing free copies of projects, and if a meeting with the HEAT team could be arranged to allow the public and planners to bring awareness and increase communication.

Clark clarified that Development Code dictates what projects require notification, and that if anyone attends a public meeting, that is considered public notice. She also clarified the U.S. Department of Housing Guidelines relate to Federal HUD projects, and are not under the jurisdiction of the projects the Planning Commission hear.

XII. ADJOURNMENT

Chair Vang adjourned the meeting at 6:39 p.m.
