

MAYOR'S OFFICE OF COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

STRATEGIC PLAN

CITY OF FRESNO | OCA@FRESNO.GOV

SUMMARY

As an outcome of Mayor Jerry Dyer's 'One Fresno' vision, the Office of Community Affairs (OCA) was created to connect services and resources to Fresno residents. The OCA engages all Fresno community members by serving as the City government's liaison to key constituent group associations, multicultural and immigrant populations, faith-based, civic and human service, and others including community benefit organizations. The OCA operates as a division of the Mayor's Office.

The OCA's goal is to assist in the practical delivery of the 'One Fresno' mission by fostering unity and equity across the City of Fresno.

This document will:

1. Provide an overview of the newly established Office of Community Affairs
2. Give an overview of community-based research and response conducted to date; and
3. Give the reader insight into the Office's fiscal year '23 goals

Together, we are committed to realizing a One Fresno.

In Community,

Matthew Grundy
Deputy Mayor | City of Fresno

BACKGROUND

One Fresno - those words are more than just a statement. They represent the Dyer Administration’s commitment to bringing the community together as one. Our vision is clear, we seek:

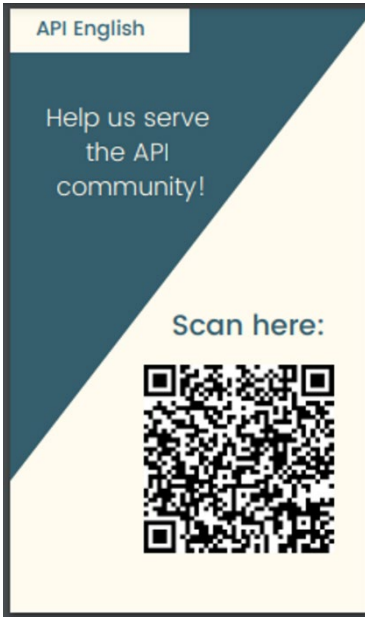

An “inclusive, prosperous, beautiful city where people take pride in their neighborhoods and community. A government that listens, keeps its promises and is owned by the people.”

At the core of this vision are people. We believe everyone matters, and every person has value. Every Fresnan irrespective of age, race, ethnicity, income, gender, neighborhood, or any other social identifier should have every opportunity to thrive in Fresno.

To make the One Fresno vision a reality, via the Mayor’s vision, and by way of the leadership of the Deputy Mayor, the Mayor’s Office of Community Affairs was officially formed. Because we believe people are our City’s greatest asset, we knew we needed gifted, intelligent, connected and compassionate people to staff the OCA. Our first OCA member, Harjinder Sinai was selected to serve as a liaison to our Asian Indian community in August of 2021. Shortly thereafter, in November 2021, the office hired Alma Martinez to serve the City’s immigrant and Latino communities. The same month, Sandra Lee was hired following the passing of a resolution establishing a permanent API ombudsman position to lead outreach efforts to the Asian Pacific Islander (API) community. Then in February 2022, Rising Star Missionary Baptist Church Senior Pastor, B.T. Lewis, II was hired to support our Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC) community, with a particular focus in Southwest Fresno.

After formation, the OCA set out to live up to the One Fresno Vision by first listening to the community. Starting fourth quarter 2021 through quarter two 2022, the OCA conducted formal and informal survey outreach to gain greater insight into overall community sentiments and needs specific to underserved communities. The following is the result of that work.

COMMUNITY FEEDBACK

To best understand sentiments and concerns amongst oft underserved communities, the OCA launched a 24-question community engagement survey to:

1. Listen to the community to understand underserved communities' needs
2. Based on an understanding of needs, determine how the OCA can best respond; to ultimately
3. Ascertain how we can best design outreach strategies to enhance community support that leads to civic engagement

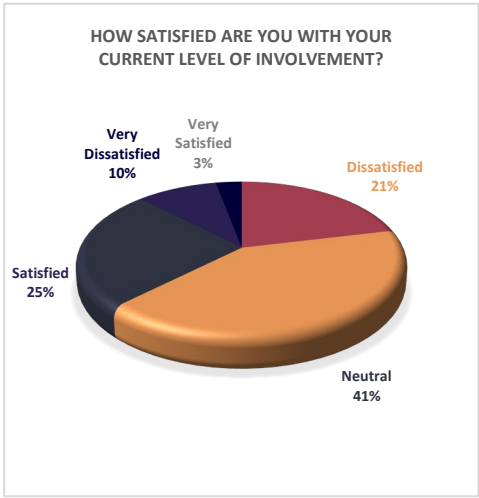

Surveys are optional and anonymous. In the survey, 15 questions directly relate to the aforementioned priorities, while nine questions focus on demographic details. While Survey Monkey is the online platform by which surveys are administered, respondents have also dictated responses via phone or on paper. Sample survey cards, like the one pictured on the left, are being distributed to each specific community. Each card provides QR code access to the survey via any handheld device. Surveys are available in English, Spanish, Punjabi and Hmong. (A definition of targeted groups served by the OCA can be found Appendix B).

GENERAL TAKEAWAYS

Using a top two-box survey method, the OCA asked the following questions and yielded the corresponding results (specific responses by ethnic group can be found in Appendix A):

1. When asked 'How would you rate your current level of involvement with the City of Fresno,' 67% of respondents stated they were either uninvolved or slightly involved.

2. When asked 'How satisfied are you with your current level of involvement,' 30% of respondents stated they were either 'dissatisfied' or 'very dissatisfied' with their city involvement.

3. However, when asked 'How interested are you in increasing your level of involvement in the City of Fresno,' 62% of respondents stated they were either 'interested' or 'very interested' in being more involved.

How interested are you in increasing your level of involvement in the City of Fresno?	Response %
Not Interested	3%
Slightly Interested	16%
Neutral	19%
Interested	39%
Very Interested	23%

1 out of 3 underserved survey respondent state they are not satisfied about their current level of involvement with the City. While 2 out of 3 are interested in being more involved.

4. The following list indicates why respondents stated they are not more involved:

- Cultural barriers (6%)
- Lack of trust in government (6%)
- Language barriers (4%)
- Not enough available time to be involved (46%)
- Unsure how to get involved (33%)
- Other (please specify) (5%)

Based on this feedback it is evident that:

- Latino, BIPOC, Asian Indian and API Communities in Fresno are not satisfied with their current level of civic engagement however they would like to be more engaged; and
- Lack of time to get involved or uncertainty around how one can be involved are the leading two reasons why these groups are not engaged. While the former is not something easily remedied by the City, the latter is an area we can focus on. (See Chapter 3 on strategic response)

5. When asked ‘How would you rate the City of Fresno's current communication with its residents?,’ only 4% of respondents indicated that our communication with their community was either ‘very good’ or ‘excellent.’

The survey goes on to ask more information about each targeted people group including:

- How often groups engage specific City of Fresno communication outlets including (311, Website, social media, City Council Meetings, etc.)
- Learning more about what specific ways each group desires to receive communication
- What specific supports and services each group needs most; and
- How welcome each group feels in our community

Additionally, demographic data was collected to better understand the composition of respondents.

Demographic Indicator	Key takeaways
Zip Code	Top three zip code respondents hail from 93727 (29%), 93722 (12%) and 93706 (8%)

All of the aforementioned information has served as a baseline to inform the OCA’s strategic response in FY23.

GENERAL STRATEGIC RESPONSE

The Office of Community Affairs worked with Central Valley Community Foundation’s Senior Program Officer, Artie Padilla to learn more about the following community engagement spectrum matrix to improve community engagement. The spectrum is a heat map read from left to right. The columns indicate how transformative community engagement progresses along with indicators that typify what each level of engagement entails. The OCA is intent on improving Civic engagement, services and supports to all parts of our community.

It was important for the OCA at inception to be honest with itself about our current level of community engagement efficacy in its early stages. Thus during one of its planning sessions the OCA asked itself:

1. How would we rate our current level of citywide engagement within the API, BIPOC, Latino, and Asian Indian communities?
2. What do you need to do to help your community reach the next level in the spectrum?
3. What resources are needed to complete each level?
4. What due date would you like to prescribe for each of these goals?

The following is an overview of the responses by community liaison for each of their targeted community groups.
