What are Non-Conforming Uses?

- Non-conforming uses are properties that don't comply with current zoning laws.
- These properties were usually legal before new zoning rules were put in place.
- They might include buildings or activities that are now prohibited or restricted.
- Non-conforming uses are allowed to continue even though they don't meet current zoning requirements.
- However, they typically can't be expanded or changed without approval.

Housing Burden

Indicator: Low Income Housing Burden

Objective I: Coordinate plans and programs of the Tower District, Central Area and other adjacent neighborhood areas.

Policy 1: Recognize that the land use character of Fulton Street and Van Ness Avenue is directly influenced by what happens in the Tower District north of the proposed Route 180 corridor, in the Central Area, and in adjacent neighborhoods.

Policy 2: Recognize that neighborhoods to the west and east of Fulton Street, and Van Ness Avenue between the proposed Route 180 corridor and Divisadero Street, are historically related to the Tower District as well as to the Central Area.

Goals and Policies

Goal II: Conserve and enhance existing residential neighborhoods.

Objective I: Stabilize neighborhoods to prevent any further loss or erosion of character-defining elements.

Policy 1: Revise or eliminate land use or zoning designations which inhibit new economic activity and investment opportunities for the benefit of the Tower District.

The decision of the Director of the Development Department on matters of Specific Plan consistency shall be final.

Rezoning subject to this provision shall be reviewed by the Tower district Specific Plan Implementation Committee and the Tower district Design Review Committee.
