FFD Risk Management Principles

RISK A LOT TO SAVE A LIFE.
 Firefighters will accept significant risk of injury or death ONLY when protecting savable human life.

RISK A LITTLE TO SAVE PROPERTY.
 Reduced levels of risk to firefighters are acceptable when protecting savable property ONLY after balanced evaluation of hazards AND appropriate control measures are established.

RISK NOTHING WHEN NOTHING CAN BE SAVED.
 No risk to the safety of firefighters will be acceptable if no probability exists to save lives or property.

When risk to firefighters is excessive AND control measures ineffective, consider disengagement or defensive posture.
