Nomination Statement

Mr. Frazier, who is sight impaired, has been a city employee for about 10 years, and is a resident of Fresno. Mr. Frazier was not always sight impaired, but even after developing this challenge he comes in and presents a positive attitude. When he comes into work he is always early to work, and / or stays late. He set a bar for the non sight impaired, by working on his computer, welcoming guests as they enter the building, and often providing the Handy Ride orientation to new riders. What makes him stand out even more is behind the scenes he often advocates for the disabled. He works on solutions to any problems riders might have; often times he takes it home and the next day suggests possible solutions to take to the rider. Ask him for a form, and he is right there with it, and will even give a brief description on how to fill it out. By the way he is the one who prints his own forms and staples them. The customers often are surprised to learn he is sight impaired, because of his positive attitude and can do approach to problem. Never too proud to help a fellow employee, or be helped with necessary. There was a time a rider had to use his voice to control his phone, but had an issue pushing a number for reservation. He helped the rider get an reasonable modification that allowed him to ride the system, and spent several days coming up with a solution. He took ownership of the problem, worked on solving the problem, came up with solutions, and helped the rider all the way through the process. If the customer at the counter mentions they are a veteran, I have always heard him thank them for their service. Mr. Frazier often rides the system and is not afraid to join in on a conversation and give advice if it is something he can help with. Steven sets the example of the can do attitude we all should strive for. If you want to recognize someone for achievement, he is your man. Hard working, problem solver, takes the 'dis' out of disability.
